DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

Claims 1-19 are pending in this application.

Claims 1-19 are rejected in this application.

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed, November 26, 2007, has been received and acknowledged by the Examiner.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed November 26, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that they admit a similar reaction to their own on page 1, lines 11-13 of the specification but the difference is that formaldehyde is used instead of paraformaldehyde and that they have unexpected results using paraformaldehyde.

The Examiner has reviewed the said unexpected results and encourage the applicant to enter into the record a side by side comparison of these unexpected results. The Examiner feels that the art used to reject the claims was closer prior art than that which is found in the specification and a side by side comparison of at least that would be considered on the record if applicant files such. It is not clear thus far that the unexpected results stems from the use of paraformaldehyde vs. the use of formaldehyde. It could simply stem from a difference in temperatures used or concentrations. Applicant is hereby reminded by the Examiner that even if no specific temperatures or concentrations are recited in the prior art of record, merely modifying the process conditions such as temperature and concentration is not a patentable modification absent a showing of criticality. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955).

Art Unit: 1621

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

It is for the reasons stated above and those found in the previous office action, dated September 6, 2007, that claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Toru et al (WO 02/088058).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
